

AjiPure, the World's Purest Amino Acids, now Available at Premier U.S. Retailers

Raleigh, NC (August 7, 2014) - Ajinomoto North America, manufacturer of the world's purest amino acids, is bringing its AjiPure[®] premium amino acids product line to five new retailers across the country. Eva's Supplements and Natural Body Inc. in New York, Professional Supplement Nutrition in Texas and Health Beyond Hype in Florida and California now sell AjiPure Amino Acids, including Fusi-BCAA[™], Glutamimmune[™], Fusil[®], ArgiFlow[™] and Tryptopure[®].

For decades, amino acids have been recognized for their incredible benefits to human body physiology. They are the fundamental building blocks of human tissues and offer a wealth of benefits to the body – from boosting the immune system to aiding muscle development and supporting healthy sleep patterns. Recognizing the vast benefits of amino acids, Ajinomoto Co., Inc. was the first company to manufacture amino acids to pharmaceutical-grade standards and pioneered the use of vegetable fermentation to produce amino acids - an innovative process using no animal source materials. AjiPure Amino Acids are environmentally sustainable, gluten free and vegan certified. They are also laboratory tested, non-GMO, GMP compliant, contain no artificial additives or fillers and use a 100 percent-vegetable fermentation process.

"Knowledgeable independent retailers are valuable sources of education and advice," said Steve Fink, AjiPure Business Manager. "Their dedication to the health of their customers mirrors our commitment to manufacturing the world's purest amino acids for consumers from all walks of life – from elite athletes to the aging population to those following a vegetarian/vegan diet to anyone who wants to live a healthier, natural lifestyle."

"Our retail network is expanding quickly as more consumers appreciate the benefits of including amino acids in a comprehensive supplementation regimen and retailers realize the quality that AjiPure brings to their customers," added Fink. "Customers ask for AjiPure by name, and we're looking forward to placing our premium amino acids on the shelves of more local retail outlets to help them meet that demand."

The AjiPure product line features the following amino acid supplements:

- ArgiFlow - helps stimulate vasodilation to support healthy blood pressure and blood flow already within a normal range, helps to maintain healthy levels of growth hormone; promotes the urea cycle in the removal of toxic ammonia from the body
- Fusil - helps stimulate protein synthesis to build muscle; boosts endurance, and energy during physical activities
- Fusi-BCAA - bolsters stamina and promotes muscular energy during physical training; supports reduced muscle fatigue and recovery after exercise
- Glutamimmune - fuels the immune system and supports intestinal health; supports the maintenance of healthy muscle tissue during exercise; reduces muscle fatigue and post-exercise discomfort
- Tryptopure - contributes to healthy sleep patterns, digestive system, skin and nerves; helps to maintain mood and healthy appetite
